Barry Named Chairman Poland Spring Caddy Reunion Sept. 17

Poland Spring, Maine — Lawrence F. Barry, of Elm St., Agawam, one-time Poland Spring caddy and caddy master, has been named sectional chairman for the 3rd annual reunion of the Poland Spring Caddy Alumni Association, scheduled for Sept. 17-19 at the Poland Spring Hotel was announced by John E. Hurley, group president.

More than 300 ex-caddies from the famed Poland Spring Motel are expected to be on hand. According to Mr. Hurley, they'll come from more than ten states to meet old friends, play in the annual Golf Tournament, tell lies, and perhaps recapture a memory left behind. The camp was formed in 1921, and just completed its 44th year. It has a national reputation for the production of trained caddies, a rare and almost extinct species these days.

Highlight of the three day parley is the annual golf championship. This year the THOMAS J. TURLEY MEMORIAL TROPHY will be unveiled. It has been purchased by the members to perpetuate the memory of Tom Turley, former member of the Mass. Youth Service Board and a nationally known authority on youth and the problems of teen-agers. Turley died two months ago.

Winner of the tourney receives a miniature of the Turley Memorial and his name will be engraved on the Master Trophy, to be displayed in the Poland Spring Inn, Saul Feldman, executive director of Poland Spring disclosed.

A memorial Mass for all departed members, putting tournament, long drive and nearest the pin contests, annual home-coming banquet and election of officers will all take up the hours during the three day reunion. Oldest member of the Board of Directors is Charles E. March of Lewiston, Me. (74), and the youngest member is Dedham's Ron Hansen, just

YOU AND YOUR INSURANCE

(A public service column about property and casualty insurance)

by KENNETH S. RAFFOL

CONSTRUCTION SITES CAN CLOBBER KIDS

"Where in the dickens have those kids gone to now?"

Chances are that expression is so common that it almost qualifies as a cliche. Being truthful, children will tell you exactly where they plan to go...sometimes. The only problem is they don't always know exactly where they are going to wind up...and neither do you.

Since the weather that sets the stage for roaming also signals the start of construction and demolition of all kinds, it gives your children as well as your neighbor's youngsters numerous new, exciting, adventures—and hazardous worlds to explore.

For mutual protection, one East Coast community set up an informal intelligence service. The chairman received continuing reports from members on any construction sites being started as well as progress at each that introduced new hazards. In turn, all parent members were informed of each hazard as it developed. Beyond that, each parent was continually alert for the presence of children at any site passed and either called the child's parents or pointed the youngster toward home. Terming it "Operation Bandaid", they called the continuing effort a "perils report" that produced, in addition to the direct benefits of knowing the children were, a marked increase in parental peace of mind.

Huge piles of sand near an excavation make a fine sandpile—and an ideal site for a tunnel or cave that can easily collapse and trap a child. Excavations, trenches, walls, the framework of buildings perfect for climbing, structures being torn down, construction equipment itself—these are just a few conditions that threaten.

Why not give some thought to a perils report in your own neighborhood?

This column will be glad to answer questions you may have about property or casualty insurance. Send them to Kenneth S. Raffol Insurance Agency, 299 Walnut Street, Agawam, Mass.

Dog Problems In Schoolyards

With the end of the school vacation and the opening of schools again, David S. Claffin, Executive Vice-President of the Mass. S.P.C.A., asks dog owners to keep their pets away from schoolyards. Each September, and to a lesser extent throughout the school year, many children are bitten by strange dogs in the schoolyard. Even a dog which is fond of children may bite in the noise and confusion of children milling about a schoolyard.

Parents should point out to young dog owners that leaving the family dog at home is safer for the dog as well as the owners. The chances that a dog will be hit by a car or will get into a dog fight are much less when the pet remains in his own neighborhood.

Decade of Doughnuts

The Mister Donut chain was started 10 years ago. It now has almost 200 shops and is still expanding. Stores sell 200 million doughnuts with the heart-shaped hole each year. In common with the policy of many other food franchisers, its home office maintains control over production and operating practices.

Summertime is the time when it's too hot to do the chores around the house it was too cold to do last winter.

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS

LITTLE WORK SAVERS
ALL 'ROUND THE HOUSE . . .
TO KEEP YOU
"FLOWER-FRESH"

Banish white marks from mahogany furniture this way: spread a thick coat of petroleum jelly over the spots, let it stand 48 hours, polish off.

To hammer a nail in the wall when hanging pictures, avoid plaster chipping this way: put scotch tape over the spot before driving the nail in. Remove tape as soon as nailing is finished.

Save work—have a mud scraper outside the door. A husky scrub brush nailed to porch floor, bristles up, is a good homemade one.

Don't force sticky drawers. Rub the sticking surface with paraffin or hard laundry soap. If this doesn't do the trick, sand the edges down a trifle.

To mend a torn window screen: cut out a piece of screen an inch or so larger all around than the hole. Strip down the edges until you have an inch or more of loose wires all around. Put the patch over the outside of the hole and weave the loose wires into the screen. Very inconspicuous if you do this carefully.

Soak neglected paint brushes in hot vinegar to renew them.

Use your vacuum on kitchen and all hard floors to draw dust out of nooks and crannies around appliances and furniture. Dust is captured, not scattered.

To banish shower curtain scum: add 1/2 cup household ammonia to 2 gallons warm water. Soak curtains for 10 minutes in this. Add 1/4 cup ammonia to the first rinse, then follow with a clear rinse and hang curtains straight over the shower rod to drip dry.

Air blankets often to minimize lint. Tumble them in your dryer with no heat on—hang them outside on a breezy day.

SPACE CLOCK

Downey, Calif.

Three and a half million dollars for a clock?

That's the price tag placed on a timekeeping device being developed for the Apollo spacecraft scheduled to take three men to the moon within the next five years.

North American Aviation, Inc., prime contractor for the vehicle, awarded 2.6 million to General Time Corporation's Acronetics Division at Rolling Meadows, Ill., to continue development of an electronic timing system which will keep Apollo instruments synchronized and call the signals for automatic events during the flight. An initial contract for $1 million was awarded in 1963.

The space-age timepiece will have 48,000 parts, none larger than a golf ball, in 15 breadbox-size containers. It is expected to be completed in December, 1966.

IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL TIME AGAIN!

LIVES DEPEND ON WHETHER YOU DRIVE YOUR CAR . . . SAFELY

It isn't that children mean to be careless . . . it's just that in their zest and vitality they sometimes forget to stop, look and listen before crossing the street. It isn't that we mean to be careless either, yet the very car we drive may be considered a lethal weapon and the consequences of our negligence could be fatal. It is our moral obligation to be extra alert these days when school children crowd the crosswalks!

REMEMBER: Safety Is No Accident! Be Sure To Drive Carefully To Protect Our Children!

CHECK YOURSELF ON THESE SAFE DRIVING TIPS . . .

- BE ESPECIALLY CAREFUL NEAR SCHOOLS
- THINK ONE STEP AHEAD OF EVERY PEDESTRIAN
- KNOW ALL TRAFFIC RULES . . . OBSERVE THEM AS LIFE OR DEATH REGULATIONS
- REGARD ALL TRAFFIC SIGNALS, SIGNS AND MARKERS AS LIFESAVERS
- HAVE YOUR CAR SAFETY CHECKED OFTEN — FAULTY EQUIPMENT CAN COST LIVES

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

The future of striped bass fishing on the Atlantic Coast depends on all coastal states working together for the good of the species, the president of Stripers Unlimited told the U. S. House of Representatives Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, which is considering a multi-million dollar Anadromous fishery bill.

The appearance of Bob Pond, of South Attleboro, Mass., before the committee in Washington marked the initial effort of Stripers Unlimited on the national level to promote fisheries legislation considered essential for the improvement—if not the preservation—of striped bass fishing.

Pond told congressmen that the responsibility for producing stripers and protecting and developing their habitat cannot be left to individual states. These fish migrate from one state to another, he said, and many states currently must depend on conservation practices of other states for their supply of fish.

Although Pond was somewhat critical of fisheries management striped bass in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay, he drew the comment from Rep. Rogers B. Morton, of Maryland, that he was in great sympathy with the speaker's statement.

The House bill which Pond testified to support is H.R. 3927, described as a measure for the purpose of conserving, developing and enhancing within some states the Anadromous fishery resources of the nation that are subject to depletion from water resources development and other causes.

The measure would permit the Secretary of Interior to enter in co-operating agreements with states and other non-federal interests to initiate programs on behalf of Anadromous fisheries with the Federal Government paying up to 75% of the costs. The sum of five million dollars would be appropriated annually to finance such work.

The Secretary of Interior would also be requested to make recommendations to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare concerning the elimination or reduction of the detrimental effects of polluting substances on fish and wildlife in interstate or navigable water or their tributaries.

The bill, in addition, gives the Secretary of Interior the authority to conduct investigations and engineering and biological surveys and other research desirable to carry out its programs; to construct, install and operate devices and structures for the improvement of feeding and spawning conditions, protection of the fishes, and for facilitating their free migration.

FISHING LINES!

By DICK WOLFF

"Old Fighter" lives. He is the challenge and nemesis of every fisherman. He's lurking somewhere down there among the blue-green weeds and mossy rocks. Perhaps he is chasing a minnow, watching for a careless frog, or eyeing a plump bug struggling on the surface.

We know he's there, as only fishermen can know. It will take a lot of fishing skill and patience to coax him from his lair and get him to strike a lure or natural bait. We will need all our fishing knowledge and maybe a little luck to land him. But it can be done—and we know it.

The big fish, the lunker, the one we've all dreamed about—is he ever out of mind? Each time we get a strike, our spirit soars. It could be "Old Fighter"! And if it isn't? Well, maybe a new strategy with a new lure will tempt him on the next cast.

With the knowledge that the "big one" is waiting for us, we fishermen can afford to be an optimistic group. Anticipation of the "big catch" is what keeps us constantly intrigued with fishing. It gets us excited when we see a new lure, such as the colorful Garcia Celta spinner or rubber Plucky lure.

Anticipation urges us to check our lines for frayed or worn spots and to buy the best reel we can, whether it's a magnificent Ambassadeur free-spool baitcasting reel or a high-speed retrieve Mitchell spinning reel. Anticipation leads us to wonder if our landing net is big enough.

We want to be ready! The fish of a lifetime may strike on the next cast... and we don't want to risk losing him.

Non-fishermen wonder why neither rain nor dark of night will keep us from our rendezvous with "destiny". "Silly," some say, or, "You're nuts," if they want to make their point stronger. A pox on them, we say.

They don't know that an "Old Fighter" is waiting for each of us. They don't dream about catching him. They miss the anticipation, and they miss all the fun. All considered, we fishermen are a pretty lucky group, you know, and "Old Fighter" is happily ours alone to seek.

Of course, he added, the loss is insured. But filing a claim costs $20, and there are other annoyances. Seasonal sales can also be lost because of the delay, he said.

An Orange Roof

Since 1925, when the first Howard Johnson's opened in Wollaston, Mass., many a hungry motorist has scanned the horizon for the orange roof and turquoise cupola. Many may not know that approximately half of the 700 restaurants are franchised by the company.

Thieves 'Dock' Pay Of John Q.

Boston

On the outside, the big cardboard carton of $50 Norwegian sweaters looked almost undamaged.

Only on closer examination could you see a careful, semi-circular slice on one side. But when customs men opened the box, they found that only 15 sweaters were left of the original 55.

Waterfront thieves had struck again in Boston. Someone had cut through three or four layers of tough cardboard and then—one at a time—pulled the sweaters out.

Such theft is usually not organized. Most goods taken through pilferage are probably distributed among the thief's own family.

Nevertheless, plundering on American docks each year costs shippers and insurance companies millions of dollars.

"It's this kind of thing that's making us switch part of our shipments to air freight," said the importer who lost the sweaters.

PROMENADERS

By Beryl and Doug Shaylor

Now that we've promenaded through the summer and do-si-doed around Labor Day weekend, we can get back to the serious and enjoyable business of square dancing. Opening our filled fall festival at the Robinson Park School on Friday, Sept. 10th will be guest caller Dick Davis of East Walpole, Mass. This popular M.C. is well known throughout the Boston area and our eastern contacts tell us we're in for a delightful night of fast moving dancing—just right to shake out those summer cobwebs.

We will welcome back regular club called "Old Smoothie" Dick Steele on Sept. 24. We are looking forward to a large turnout of Dick's friends in the area who haven't had the opportunity to enjoy his calling since June.

The Executive Committee has been hard at work all through the long hot summer lining up some fabulous new affairs for the coming season. Coming up soon will be our 10th Birthday Party, a fashion show with 10 (count 'em 10) lovely models, a special ticket dance with "that man with the guitar" Dick Leger, and many other surprises.

This 10th season should be our best. Mark your calendars now for opening night Sept. 10. "Square 'em up"!

TOMATOES

The United States Department of Agriculture advises home-makers not to ripen tomatoes on a sunny warm window sill as was so often done in grandma's day. It is the heat, not the light, that's wrong for ripening. At temperatures above 85° F. tomatoes turn yellow instead of attractive red. On the other hand, they don't ripen well either if they are chilled. Refrigeration, for example, will cause unripe tomatoes to become pale, watery and lacking in flavor. How then should you ripen tomatoes? For vitamin preservation and for best retainment of flavor, ripen them in good light and at room temperatures between 60 and 75 degrees F.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step. Chinese proverb.

Ann Corio's "This Was Burlesque"

Return To Music Fair Week of Sept. 13

For the first time in seven years of operation of Storrowthon Music Fair, Producer Wally Beach brings back a show for a second week's engagement because of popular demand.

The musical is Ann Corio's "This Was Burlesque" which established performance records and a number of firsts at the West Springfield tent theatre. Miss Corio and her cast return for five days beginning Sept. 13. The troupe will have all new material in preparation of its return to Broadway in the fall.

Several shows in the past have had two consecutive weeks' stand at the Music Fair, but "This Was Burlesque" is the first to leave the tent after a one week engagement and sign to return for a subsequent week. Beach said he made the move because of public requests.

It was the first burlesque attraction to play any theatre in this area in many years and was the first show that gave an added midnight performance at the Music Fair. Beach said the production "took off" at midweek of the initial stand here and the Saturday night audience was perhaps the largest ever packed into the theatre-in-the-round. Hundreds were turned away which helped prompt the decision to bring the show back for a return engagement next week.

For the triumphal return engagement, Miss Corio will bring back the cast of comedians that drew gales of laughter from Music Fair patrons and all the lovely dancers and strippers who gave visual pleasure to audiences during the first run. Funnyman Steve Mills will be back as co-star with Miss Corio as well as other "top bananas" Harry Conley, Dick Bernie, Mac Dennison and Dexter Maitland. Marilyn Marshall, exotic tassel swinger, and Gloria LeRoy, the Chicago-type stripper, will repeat their specialties, with some new twists.

Music Fair Producer Beach said there will be nightly shows at 8:30 Monday through Friday with a matinee Wednesday at 2 and a special midnight show Friday.

LEGION AUXILIARY UNIT NEWS

by Virginia Catchesaugh

Let's All Sing

"Sing! sing! sing! carols, Mrs. Lucille Hayden, National Music Committee Chairman. This is our theme for the year in our program of music activities!"

"Sing—nationally!"

"Sing—in the Department!"

"Sing—in the Unit!"

Whenever we gather together in national meetings from all parts of the country there is a oneness when we sing together—an enjoyment.

The American Legion Auxiliary program is so varied that it is difficult to participate in each phase of the work. But music gives each and every member an opportunity to take part. Very few people could sing a solo if asked but every member can sing in a group.

We should encourage a Department Music Contest for choruses, sextettes, quartettes and trios. Prizes should be offered to help pay expenses of the singing groups. Department convention programs should have room for these groups.

The National Music Committee has great hopes of every Unit meeting being opened and closed with a patriotic song. Also, we hope the Unit Music chairman will present the story of the Hymn of the Month, as well as the facts concerning the Patriotic Song of the Month.

We should encourage our Juniors to learn about our patriotic songs. What better way to assure a love of our American heritage?
